

REORGANIZE ADMIRALTY OF BRITAIN

SIR ERIC CAMPBELL GEDDES AP-POINTED FIRST SEA LORD TO ARRY OUT NEW PROGRAM.

MORE ACTION SOUGHT

Changes Are Calculated to Prepare Navy for Greater Initiative in Conduct of the War.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
London, Aug. 6 (delayed).—Official announcements were made today in Britain tonight that Admiral Sir
Eric Campbell Geddes, second sea lord,
has been replaced by Vice Admiral Sir Roselyne Wemyss. Alan Garrett Anderson, chairman of the committee on naval administration, succeeds Sir Eric Campbell Geddes, the new first lord of admiralty, as controller of naval construction.

Part of Reorganization Plan.
The changes in the British admirality are interpreted as the first step in a reorganization which it is supposed Sir Eric Campbell Geddes, first lord of the admiralty, was appointed to carry out.

In quarters where admiralty methods are regarded as unsatisfactory,
the present step is denounced as a "procrastinatory half measure," and it is declared the change ought to have been so complete as to give the country a resolute and energetic admiralty
prepared with an offensive spirit.
There is no implication of incapacity
against Admiral Sir Cecil Burney, whose services as second in command of the grand fleet are recognized. An official announcement says he will be employed on special duty. An official statement says an opportunity will be taken of the appointment of Vice Admiral Sir Roselyne Wemyss to reorganize the duty of the second sea
lord of the admiralty, who will be relieved of detailed administrative work connected with the personnel of the fleet.

Greene's Removal Important.
Another change in the admiralty is the removal of Sir William Graham Greene of the permanent secretaryship at the admiralty to a secretaryship in the ministry of munitions
under Winston Churchill. Sir William's departure is considered important, as the post of permanent secretary, which he has held since 1911,
has always been largely responsible for the continuity of admiralty administration and policy. It is this continuity which is regarded by many as a dangerous factor which hinders initiative and adaptability to current needs.

AMERICA MUST OPEN CREDITS TO ALLIES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Paris, August 7.—The Journal Des Debats in a review of finance yesterday, calls attention that it is America's imperative duty to recognize obligations towards France which it cannot escape, and that it must open credits to the allies as large as may be required without which they cannot continue the war.

BRITISH REPULSE BIG NIGHT ATTACK

British Headquarters in France and Belgium, by the Associated Press,
Aug. 7.—Hélichoque, a Belgian town southwest of Ypres, which was the scene of heavy fighting early yesterday morning, was again the scene of a German attack last night, but the enemy was repulsed by the British artillery fire before even wire entanglements in front of the trenches had been reached.

EXPLOSION WRECKS BIG GERMAN PLANT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
London, Aug. 7.—According to reports received from German frontier by the correspondent at Amsterdam of the Exchange Telegraph Company, the explosion at Henningsdorf was one of the worst catastrophes of its kind in Germany since the war began. A munitions factory was wiped out. 300 persons were killed or injured and enormous damage was done. Henningsdorf has been isolated by police and troops.

MAY COMPEL BETTER OSHKOSH CAR LINES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Oshkosh, Aug. 7.—An appeal to the railroad commission of Wisconsin
was made today by the Wisconsin council against the Eastern Wisconsin Electric company, now owners of the street carway system here. It was charged the cars are antiquated, unsanitary and dangerous, and the service generally unreliable and unsatisfactory. The commission is asked to order the company to make improvements. The company has also refused to pay the $1,000 a year agreed to by former owners in payment of the company's share of the cost of the Main street bridge and the city has ordered suit for the amount now past due.

REVEAL LONG LISTS OF SPIES EMPLOYED BY RUSSIAN EX-CZAR

(Correspondence of Associated Press.)
Petrograd, Aug. 7.—Thirty-three long lists of spies, informers and agents in ex-emperor Nicholas' pay,
have been published by the commission for securing the new system of government, appointed by the provisional government immediately after the revolution. Fifty more lists may be expected. The total number of these secret legations of autocracy is expected to reach 80,000. The commission reports depict precisely the same methods of espionage as the provisional government used in Turkey in Turkey under Abdul Hammed, the second.

As revealed by these inquiries, autocracy spies were paid badly, the average wage for organizing political crime or betraying accomplices being $20 a month. The spies were usually instructed to become members of social revolutionary or terrorist organizations. Many spies and inform-ers were at one time genuine revolutionaries, and became later betrayers and informers.

Some seemed to have served both sides honestly and some do not seem to have known which side they sym-pathized with. A notable case is "Trukhanoff," real name Stukin, his nickname was "Perky," who aroused the suspicion of his terrorist comrades, was threatened by them with execution, and to retaliate himself was obliged to kill the gendarme officer, with whom he collaborated. The murder of Grand Duke Sergius in Moscow in February, 1905, was due to the same motive.

The organization of crime to discredit non-terrorist political associations and frighten Nicholas into repression, was a great goal. For this a mechanic was hired by the department to fire at General D. J.
Djankowski, governor of Moscow, but was instructed to be sure to miss. He executed his instructions, but through carelessness killed a passer-by.

Very few women were employed as spies or informers, but a few noted cases have been exposed. In Moscow three women were hired by the department to get into the homes of workmen after getting confessions from them by simulating love.
The commission's lists show the department was a hard master. In addition to paying its spies badly, it spied on them. Every security department record contains a note of the spy's history. Some are described as "moderately good," others as "indifferent," others have been "betrayed many times," others as "unreliable," and others as "doubtful," should be watched.

TO FIGHT REMOVAL OF MRS. DE SAULLES

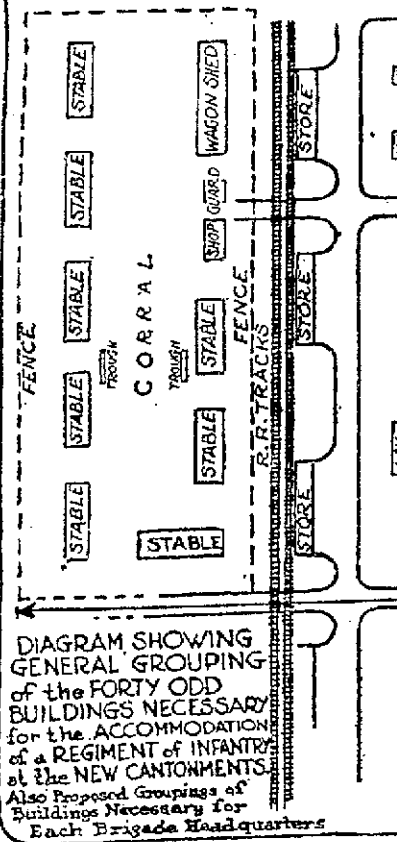

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Minneapolis, Aug. 7.—Efforts to have Mrs. De Saulles removed from jail, where she is held for the murder of her former husband, John Longer De Saulles, owing to what her attorney terms a new discovery, will be brought to the state district attorney today. He declared she is in as serious a condition as her attorney would have the public think.

Dr. Guy P. Cleghorn, the county physician, who with two other doctors made an examination of Mrs. De Saulles last said, "she is in a dangerous condition, but that she need medical attention."

PLANS FOR SIXTEEN CANTONMENTS FOR UNCLE SAM'S NEW NATIONAL ARMY COMPLETED

The big task of completing all plans for the construction of the cantonments for the sixteen training camps for the new national army is now a matter of history and the contracts for the work have been awarded.
Col. Isaac W. Little, quartermaster corps, head of the extensive organization which is directing and supervising the work, is a veteran in this line. While there was much delay in getting plans and specifications in final shape, it cannot be fairly charged to Colonel Little and other quartermaster officers associated with him.
The job was so big that the council of national defense, through its advisory commission, brought to Washington a small army of civilian experts. While these men rendered valuable assistance, one set of plans after another was thrown away and a great deal of criticism heaped upon those who were seeking to get the work started.

PHILIPP MAY RE CONVEVE LEGISLATURE

AGITATION AND CONFERENCE WITH ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE
MAY RESULT IN A SPE-CIAL SESSION.

WANT SUNDAY CLOSING

A. E. Matheson on Special Committee to Confer With Governor Regarding Sunday Law.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Madison, Aug. 7.—Governor Philipp
may call a special session of the legislature to settle the question of closing saloons on Sunday. The governor says that the Sunday saloon has existed in Wisconsin in many localities
since the organization of the state, and that if the claim is pressed for the closing of the saloon he may feel called to submit the question to a special session of the legislature.

The members of the Anti-Saloon League who are here to ask for the Sunday closing law should be enforced,
and that the closing of the saloon on Sunday will reduce accidents, lead to greater efficiency and win the war.
The committee of the Anti-Saloon League believe that the present Sunday closing law should be enforced,
but are not opposed to calling a special session of the legislature immediately as proposed.

"The Sunday saloon must go," said
A. J. Hutton, State Superintendent of the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon League, here today.

"Two sessions of the legislature
have by large votes refused to repeal the Sunday closing law. That means that the people want the law enforced."

The committee which is here today
for the conference with the governor, is composed of Superintendent Hutton, John Greening, Milwaukee; J. J.
Phoenix, Delavan; F. J. Vea, Stoughton;
Alexander Matheson, Janesville;
John Strange, Neenah; Father W. O.
Carrier, Waubesa; J. C. Hogan,
Waukesha; Rev. Henry Coleman and W. D. Raddatz, Madison.

Superintendent Hutton today said that on July 12 a letter was sent to Governor Philipp asking for the Sunday closing of saloons, and that on Friday last a telegram was received from Governor Philipp asking for a conference with members of the executive committee of the Anti-Saloon League. The conference is being held this afternoon and will probably be completed today.

CROWN PRINCE HAS A SERIOUS REVERSE IN THE CHAMPAGNE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Canadian headquarters in France by Canadian Press Limited,
Aug. 7.—The Canadian outposts around Lens have established a new line in a group of houses which is within a few yards of the enemy front line at that point. The Lens-Bethune Road is now safely within our lines almost up to the city of Lens.

Paris, Aug. 7.—French troops last night broke into the lines of the German crown prince on the Champagne front in three places, inflicting losses
on the Germans and bringing back prisoners. It was officially announced by the French war department. A German attack between Avocourt and Hill 304 in the Verdun section was driven off with heavy losses to the Germans.

There were fairly heavy artillery
duels in the Bixchoote region of the Belgian front, causing the Rurbeise
and Craonne north of the river Aisne.
On Rumanian Front.
Berlin, Aug. 7.—Austro-German forces yesterday began an offensive against the Russo-Rumanian armies in Moldavia on the Rumanian front. Russian positions north of Pokshani were stormed, according to the official statement issued today by the German general staff, and 1,300 prisoners were taken. Thirteen guns and numerous trench mortars also were captured.

Germans Take Heights.
Petrograd, Aug. 7.—In the direction of Kimpelung, in Bukovina, Austro-German forces after a battle with the Russians, occupied the heights at Ne-lit, says the official announcement issued by the Russian war department.
In the region of the river Bystritsa
two Russian regiments voluntarily left their positions, causing the Russian troops to retreat a few miles. South of Grigolovo the Russians drove back
the German advance posts.

In the region west of the river
Zbrocz on the Russian-Galician front, Austro-German troops, the statement adds, are hastily gathering the harvest. In the direction of Pok-shani on the Rumanian front, the forces of the central powers and their allies began an offensive and pushed back the Russo-Rumanian troops across Trosdus.

Reverse for Teutons.
Kishinev, Russia, Aug. 7.—Austro-German troops between the Dniester and Prut have been thrown back on the front ten miles from Chotin, according to news from the battle area reaching here.

Chotin is at the junction of the Zbrocz and Dniester rivers on the Galician-Russian frontier.

operations on the Austro-Italian front,

duels took place on the Julian front."

by the British war office, says: "There was nothing of special interest to report."

FIND BODY OF WOMAN IN A CELLAR

DISCOVER BODY OF MRS. CORA
MILLER, WEALTHY LA CROSSE WOMAN, BURIED IN TEN-ANT'S CELLAR.

LIKE KRUGER MURDER

Clears Up Five Months Old Mystery of Disappearance of Woman.—Police Seek Edwin Hauge
as Culprit.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
La Crosse, Wis., Aug. 7.—The discovery of the body of Mrs. Cora Miller, buried in quick lime in an unused cellar of the home of Edwin Hauge, farmer, today cleared up the mystery surrounding the disappearance of the woman from the home of her employer, Hiram Lovejoy, near the village of West Salem, La Crosse county, on February 24, last, revealing at the same time a crime which resembles to a marked degree that of the murder
and burial of Ruth Kruger in New York City by Cocchi, the man now under arrest in Italy.

Hauge has not been found, but a warrant for his arrest has been issued, and police today are sending broadcast his description and pictures,
and offering a reward for his capture.
He is known to have lived near the village of West Salem until July when the police began their second and successful attempt to solve the mystery. He has not been seen or heard of since that time.

Solution of the five months old mystery was due to activities of local newspaper men, who refused to believe that Mrs. Miller had eloped as a letter to Lovejoy intimated. It has been discovered the handwriting
in the letter tallies with that of Hauge, the police claim. Chief of Police John B. Weber discovered the body after midnight last Wednesday.
But did not make it known until today, when he had exhausted all hope of capturing Hauge.

Hauge rented his home from Mrs.
Miller. The police believe she went there to collect rent and at the same time to separate struggle to preserve her honor, being beaten to death with a hammer, which was found in the grave. The murdered woman was household goods, but returned several times to cover up trace of the crime.
Hauge is thirty-two years of age and has a wife and child living with relatives in West Salem. Mrs. Miller was a well-to-do woman, owning several farms. She was a former school teacher. Her mother, Mrs. C. B.
Tomborough, now lives at Elvira,
Ohio.

FIND GERMAN OFFICE IN SWEDEN WHICH DIRECTS U-BOAT WORK

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Stockholm, Aug. 7.—Allied secret service and intelligence officers, with the co-operation of the police of the Scandinavian countries, have recently succeeded in unearthing and dispersing a large and well organized German submarine intelligence office
headquarters in Gothenburg, Sweden.
In their investigations the officers discovered a naval intelligence map of the water surrounding the British Isles and North Sea. The water area on the map was divided into small squares, each one numbered.
An elaborate code was also found for use in conjunction with this map.

Messages, based on this code, although apparently reading like private mercantile telegrams and cablegrams,
could in reality be deciphered into accurate descriptions of allied warships or of belligerent or neutral merchantmen.

From the spy headquarters in Gothenburg agents were sent to Scandianavian ports and attempts were made,
whether successful or not, to get them into England. These agents were supplied with the code and map mentioned and were reporting to headquarters on the sailing of merchantmen. It is supposed that in some way the headquarters in Gothenburg communicated the information to German submarines at sea, probably by wireless stations hidden along the coast. One of the chief branches of the Gothenburg office was in Christiansburg and a Norwegian was administrator of the office. It is believed that the code and map in addition of process of invisible ink writing for mail purposes. Another branch was in Malmo, Sweden. It is believed that many of the agents of the German spies in Gothenburg were Scandinavians.
At about the same time of the discovery of the Gothenburg office German giving the name of Klein was arrested in Sweden, charged with a plot to murder British Ambassador Buchanan in Petrograd. Klein was subsequently released but deported from Sweden.

Wilson Takes Hand
In Price Control
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Washington, Aug. 7.—President Wilson took a hand today in the government's plan for regulation of prices, and conferred with officials who had the work in charge. First,
he went to the federal trade commission and then to the department of justice. Both departments are working on keeping prices on materials for the government's war needs down to a reasonable basis.

The president spent half an hour at the federal trade commission inquiring particularly as to the investigation of the cost of producing coal, steel and lumber. After that he went to the department of justice, where he was informed of the progress being made in a cost determining work now being conducted by his request.

"To find a basis for prices to be paid by the government for war materials, the commission is investigating the cost of production of coal,
iron, petroleum, tin, aluminum, wire,
zinc, copper, lead, cement and lumber. The copper investigation is about complete and a report will go to the president with the next two weeks. The next article on which cost estimates will be furnished is coal. The commission hopes to have definite data within a month."

WILLIAMS ATTACKS OBSTRUCTIONISTS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Washington, Aug. 7.—Senator Williams, speaking today on the food bill, declared it was well for the senate to hear what the obstructionists think.
He denounced obstructionists.
It is a time to forget party alignments," he said, "and a majority of both the democrats and republicans have done so, and have formed themselves into an anti-administration and anti-American party."
"Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson all are settling examples. All three have been tired, the country is tired, the house is tired, and two-thirds of the senate
are tired of this constant obstruction-ism. We are tired of the dog days making everybody nervous and tired
with talk of this bill that isn't changing a vote."

CENTRISTS GET PLACES

Catholic Party Scores Victory With Appointment of Three Members on the Cabinet.
To Secure Reform.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Copenhagen, Aug. 7.—Willi Dr. Von Kuehlmann or Dr. Karl Helferich, vice-chancellor be the real director of foreign policy under the administration of Dr. Michaelis, the Imperial German chancellor? This is the political problem in connection with the shakeup of the cabinet in Germany.

It is known that Dr. Helferich desires to have a hand in steering Germany's new course in world politics
after the war and it is rumored that the new chancellor, unacquainted as he is with international affairs, desires to retain Dr. Helferich as his special advisor.

One of the avowed reasons for Dr.
Helferich's retention despite his pre-scent unpopularity in the Reichstag was that his services are indispensable to peace negotiations. The Berlin Tageblatt, the Lokal Anzeiger, and the Vossische Zeitung all refer to the possibility of a conflict as Dr. Von Kuehlmann, it is understood is disinclined to permit himself to be relegated to a subordinate place.

A second feature of the shakeup is the consideration shown the Catholic centre party whose demand for representation in the Imperial and Prussian cabinet for the Roman Catholic population was recognized by the appointment of three Roman Catholics, Spahn, Waldow and Kuehlmann. With a revocation of the anti-Jesuit and Polish expatriation laws, also part of the centrist program, that party is considered to have done well.

WEALTHY SPORTSMAN COMMITTS SUICIDE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 7.—Gordon Wheat, a member of one of the wealthiest families of St. Louis, shot and killed himself today in his apartment here.

Lambert was widely known as an amateur sportsman, and belonged to many of the largest athletic clubs in the country. He was 43 years old.
Early this morning the telephone in Lambert's apartment rang. The maid answered the door and told how Mr. Lambert is, "said a woman in an excited voice. He telephoned me he was ill." The maid went to Lambert's room and found him mortally wounded
in a pool of blood.

A revolver lay by his side. He died before a physician arrived. The maid returned to the telephone and said:
"Come, quick. Something has happened."

The woman at the other end of the line did not answer, according to the maid's story, but hung up the receiver.
Lambert was divorced from his first wife. His second wife with a baby six months old is in New York.
Lambert steadily denied that they had been separated.

Thus far the police had not learned the name of the woman who called on the telephone. Lambert had a nervous breakdown about a month ago, and to this his brothers attributed his suicide. Lambert was the owner of the world championship medal for three cushion billiards.

It was the war of 1900, and the amazons were ranged in battle. The lady colonel was rallying her troops, among whom panic seemed likely to spread.
"Women," she cried, "waiting her parol, 'Will you give way to manhood fear?'"
For a moment they pulled themselves together, yet still hesitated to advance. Then their leader made one last effort.
"Women, listen! Are you going to show the white feather in a season when feathers are not being worn?"
The appeal was successful.
"Never," cried the amazons as they dashed forward to meet the enemy.

Period Furnishing.
"Period furnishing is splendid when intelligently done," said a decorator. "A recently drawing room, an empire dining room, a Charles II. library—a house so furnished is delightful."
"But you must buy your period things from dealers who know their business. Some dealers don't. I once heard a lady say to a dealer:
"This chair is Louis XVI., but my drawing room, you know, is Louis XIV. Would that chair go in it, then?"
"Sure, madam, sure," said the dealer. "Louis XIV. and Louis XVI. always go together. You see, there's only two years between 'em."—Washington Star.

COMPANY "M" HAS FIRST INSPECTION

Mustered Into U. S. Service 147 Strong.
—First Regiment Initiates Local Unit.
By Special Correspondent.
Camp Douglas, Wis., August 4, 1917.
Here we are preparing for our first weekly government inspection. The boys are all busy cleaning guns, arranging cots and equipment ready for the inspection officers' approval.
The inspection is always very strict and the rules and regulations are always adhered to. If a soldier's gun is dirty, he must clean it until it passes the inspection of the commanding officer of the company. A dirty rifle means more than twice usually means the guard house for the offender. We also have inspection of quarters. Everything has to be moved out in the company street and each man's equipment must be neatly displayed on his cot. Inspection covers about three hours at a time. The soldier it is a very long three hours.
Last evening the initial muster roll was made out and we were mustered into 147 strong, three of our number receiving their honorable discharge. Privates William McConnell, Clarence Nelson and Virgil Keller were the ones to receive these papers.
We were initiated into the regiment last evening by the rest of the regiment. Whenever a new company enters a regiment they have to stand a small initiation. All this consists of is just a hazing by the rest of the fellows in the regiment.
Sunday morning has dawned bright and clear, after a heavy windstorm last evening. Church and business this morning by Chaplain Sterns, for the Protestants, and mass will be held for the Catholics by the priest in the street of the Third Wisconsin cavalry. We have very little to do today except eat and enjoy ourselves.
A number of Janesville and Evansville people are visiting the boys in camp this morning. The fellows are always glad to see the home folks and we all wish that more of them could be with us. We all would be glad to hear from any of the people at home at any time.

HOME GUARDS PASS NECESSARY QUOTA

One Hundred and Eight Men Have Signed Up for the New Guard Organization.

Petitioners for the organization of a Home Guard unit in this city now number one hundred and eight; eight more than the necessary quota of 100, essential to the securing of official recognition and the issuing of military papers. More are expected; interest for the last few days has been growing, and though the quota has been passed, more will be accepted. All interested, especially those who have seen some military service, though this is not required.
Just what the next step in completing the organization will be, is not known. David Atwood, chairman of the movement in Janesville, has forwarded a preliminary muster to state headquarters, and is now awaiting the receipt of further orders for procedure. The signing of the necessary papers, and the constitution of the Home Guard, but merely signifies the intention of the signer to enroll in the organization.
The following are the latest to sign: John A. Nichols, Thomas S. Nolan, Peter D. Schneider, Charlie Mapes, Alvin G. West, W. S. Kerry, R. R. Powell, J. J. Cunningham, H. T. Keller, M. H. Haviland and E. H. Pelton.

CLEW TO IDENTITY OF DEAD STRANGER

Letter With Name Uncovered Which May Lead to Information Concerning Heart Victim's Kin.

The initials "G. W." is the belief of the coroner of the aged man, Miller, found dead yesterday in his room at the Corn Exchange, a victim of heart disease. The letters and name were found on an envelope discovered last night by the police when a more thorough examination of his effects than was possible yesterday morning was made.
It was learned last night that Miller had told another local man that he had a sister married to a wealthy hatter in the east. The envelope on which the name "G. W. Miller" was written also contained the printed name and address of Mark H. Jackson, Syracuse, N. Y., chief of Police P. D. Champion this morning telegraphed an inquiry to Jackson to determine if he knew anything regarding Miller or his kin.

With the prospects of a rainy evening a special feature has been arranged for the weekly club night at the Janesville Country club. Mrs. E. E. Many reservations for dinner have already been made, and a big crowd is expected.

FOOTBALL STARS AMONG FIRST TO TRAIN FOR UNCLE SAM'S GREAT FLYING CORPS

It begins to seem that scarcely one college athletic star can be found who has not enlisted in some branch of national service. The aviation corps that Uncle Sam plans to develop into the greatest of any nation has already accepted many of our leading athletic heroes. Harold Pumpelly, E. D. Backus and Harold Howe, Yale football stars of a few years back, are now training in unit No. 3 of the aerial coast patrol.

The east bound stock freight due here at 7:30 last evening, had a car of calves aboard. The car had a defective floor and between Stoughton and Edgerton several calves were lost through the floor. When the train stopped at this station another calf escaped through the floor and Night Watchman Campbell and Night Operator Fish endeavored to capture the critter. It was not until morning that the animal was caught and locked in the corral at the stock yards.

SHOOTING OF LADY IS STILL MYSTERY

Police Unable to Unearth Unknown Marksman Who Injured Mrs. Edward W. Behrendt on Sunday.

Efforts of the police to discover who it is that is accountable for the wounding Sunday morning, with a .22 caliber rifle bullet, of Mrs. Edward W. Behrendt, at her home at 200 South Bluff street, has thrown no light on the case. Today the police had not discovered whom the unknown marksman was.
A nearby resident who owns a rifle and a revolver was called to the station yesterday afternoon, but he proved conclusively that he had not engaged in rifle practice Sunday morning, and aside from this showed that it was neither of his guns from which the bullet came, as his weapons are both .32 caliber, while the bullet which struck Mrs. Behrendt above the ear and cut the scalp forward towards her eye for an inch and a half was a .22 caliber pellet.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor Gazette:
The troops of troop four and others who presented the benefit show at the Apollo last evening wish to thank the public for their generous response and also Manager Zanias for the use of the theatre and his co-operation. We regret very much that the shutdown of the lights turned many away and made it impractical for them to aid us and at the same time witness an excellent picture.
We leave for camp tomorrow morning with gratitude in our hearts that the greater part of our expenses are paid.

Stories of the Gravediggers.

Grimly humorous is the tale of the Scottish gravedigger who complained that he did not get constant work.
"But, George," said the minister, "if you were to be constantly employed in the duties of the office you would soon bury the whole parish."
"That might be, sir, but how am I to keep a wife and family unless I get regular work? 'Deed, sir, I haven't buried a leavin' soul for the last six weeks."

Harder still was the case of another gravedigger who was asked to reduce his fee for digging a grave because, "mind ye, James, she was an auld woman and was sair spent."

Agriculture in the Rural Schools

HOW TO VITALIZE THE TEACHING OF AGRICULTURE

By P. G. HOLDEN.

HOW can we vitalize the teaching of agriculture in the rural schools? No more important problem is presented to American educators today. It can be solved in but one way: Rotate the subjects.

This will prevent skimming and repetition; it will sustain interest—keep the subject alive.

The teaching of agriculture in rural schools never will be a success so long as we teach the same thing over and over again, year after year, or all the teacher to skim all the branches and leave a subject barren and uninteresting for the teacher who follows the next year.

In one-room schools all children in the lower grades become as familiar with subjects taught in the seventh and eighth grades as do their older brothers and sisters. By rotating the subjects a new field is opened to the pupils each year.

Rotation of subjects means the teaching of but one class of subjects each year, such as:

First Year—Farm Crops—Corn, alfalfa, weeds, seeds, gardens, and for girls, sewing, etc.
Second Year—The Making of Things—Tying and splicing rope, cement work, making dry traps, screens—Canning, etc.
Third Year—Animals—Live stock, feeding, testing milk, diseases and remedies—Cooking, etc.
Fourth Year—Soil and Home—Saving moisture, rotation of crops, soil fertility, sanitation, flowers, pictures, etc.

School Children Bringing in Corn to Make Germination Test.

Rotating of subjects:
Enables the teacher to teach more agriculture.
Eliminates repetition.
Gives a new subject each year.
Keeps interest alive and keen.
Does not kill the subject by skimming or teaching the same thing over and over again.

Makes the directing of the work much easier for the County Superintendent, who always has more than he can do. Instead of having several lines of instruction to prepare each year, he will have but one.

Agriculture will ultimately be taught in all rural schools. In Oklahoma it is required by the state constitution, in other states by law. Some states have tried it, but in a hit-and-miss fashion. They have skimmed through books; taught words, not things; repeated the same subjects every year; killed interest; made agriculture a dead letter.

If we would teach agriculture in a way to bring the best results, we must keep it alive—must develop interest—must rotate the subjects.
Agriculture cannot be successfully introduced in all the rural schools in any state or any county at the same time. It must grow into the schools. That is the basis of the plan adopted in Oklahoma.

They selected twelve County Superintendents who are live wires. These superintendents held a three day meeting, studied how to teach a few definite things and collected the necessary demonstration material.

Each of these superintendents selected from four to a dozen of his best teachers, in whose schools Agriculture is being taught this year. These teachers were given special instruction at the Teachers' Institutes.

When the school year opened the County Superintendent and his assistants visited one of these schools and assisted the teacher in starting the work right. Then a second school was visited, and a third, and so on. There are only a few teachers to look after this year. The work of the superintendent is simplified, concentrated, made more effective.

Next year other counties and other schools will be added. Agriculture will grow into the schools. In four or five years it will be taught in every rural school in the state—and taught in the right way.

We cannot vitalize agriculture in the rural schools except by rotating the subjects.
We cannot put agriculture into all the schools at once. We must let it grow.

And the word "agriculture" is used here to mean anything pertaining to the life and welfare of the children and the people of the community—health, sanitation, social conditions, home conveniences, community interest, as well as the things having to do directly with farming.

Why Not?
"Why did you strike this man?" asked the judge sternly.
"He called me a liar, your honor," replied the accused.
"Is that true?" said the judge, turning to the man with the muzzed up face.

"Sure it's true," said the accuser. "I called him a liar because he is one, and I can prove it."
"What have you to say to that?" asked the judge of the defendant.

"It's got nothing to do with the case, your honor," was the unexpected reply. "Even if I am a liar I guess I've got a right to be sensitive about it, ain't I?"

Jones—I say, Smith, you are a good hand at arithmetic?
Smith—Yes, I am considered very good. Why?
Jones—Well, here is a little problem for you: There was a man named Little, in Dublin, who had a daughter. Now, she was in love with a chap she knew her pater did not approve of, so one day she eloped with him. When the old man found out he was very angry, and at once followed them. Now, then, what time was it?
Smith (angrily)—What time was it? How on earth do you suppose I can tell you? I give it up.
Jones (triumphantly)—Why, a little after two, of course.

Fast Time Expected if Track Conditions Are What They Promise To Be.

(By D. W. Watt)

As I have always been interested more or less in the harness horse both trotters and pacers and as that is the one game next to the circus that would interest me most I took a stroll yesterday afternoon through the well fitted barns at the Driving Park. The first man I met and one with the largest stable of horses, was G. A. Spencer of Winnipeg, Canada, who has twelve trotters and pacers under his charge. Among the best are Billy Law, with a record of 2:07 1/4; Little Rapid, 2:14 1/4; Direct Cub, 2:10 1/4; Red Bird, 2:15 1/4; and Toddy Chetara, who, by the way, belongs to John Southerland of this city and the one that Janesville people will be interested in when she faces the starter. Mr. Spencer has been here most of the summer and his horses look to be in fine condition and ready for the work they are to do.

Another stable of good horses, belonging to Conway Brothers of Edgerton and have seven head under their direction. One of their good ones is Peter (nicknamed by Peter the Great), the other, Madam, another by the same name and four other green ones which they expect great things from before the close of the season. One being Win Dillon, the property of Tom Westlake, Robert Porter is the driver. Dick McMahon, one of the famous drivers of the Grand Circuit, has five head quartered at the grounds, headed by Pointer Queen, who formerly belonged to George Bolder of Madison and the Queen took a record in the Grand Circuit last week of 2:04 1/4 in a winning race, and will start here next week in the 2:10 pace.

Burt Chandler of Monroe, has two entries, Baron Bates and a fast green pacer by the Knight of Strathmore who will start in the 2:30 pace. Mr. Chandler's horses are looked after and driven by James Alder, Joe Hild, and another veteran in the business, arrived yesterday from Beloit with a good looking five-year-old by the name of Bird Man, a green one which will start in the 2:35 pace.

George White has a stable of five head and half, from Malone, Iowa. His stable is headed by Dan Mack, a pacer record of 2:05 1/4; Hal Patch, 2:07 1/4; Peter Dallas, trotter, 2:12 1/4; Allerton Heir, 2:15 1/4; and Joe Alder, who is the driver of Mr. White's horses.

W. B. Townsend, Shullsburg, has a stable of four head and has been on the Janesville driving park since the middle of April.

The one stable that is attracting more attention than any other, is the one of J. Crouch and Son, of La Fayette, Indiana.

This stable is headed by the great pacer, William, with a record of 1:57 1/4 and Tom Barfo, 2:05 1/4. The great pacer William has been battling for supremacy all over the United States ever since he was two years old and has fought it out many times with all the best ones down on the big circuit and is still in the game, looking as well as he did two years ago when I saw him break the track record at Madison, and although William stands at the head of the exclusive society of pacers, it has not swayed his head and when I took a look at him in his comfortable quarters at the driving park yesterday, he rubbed his nose over my face as much as to say, 'I'm very glad to have you pay me a visit, and if it is a good day and good track, I will surely step old Joe Patchen's track record of 2:04 1/4 in the background.'

John Shaw of Chicago, has four head all of which are entered here for the races next week.

You will often hear old timers refer to the good old days when the famous trotters and pacers came to Janesville from all over the United States but there are more fast horses and good ones quartered in the driving park today than I ever have seen before, and if weather conditions are good next week I look for many track records to be broken in the different classes and by the time the entries all get in there will be at least 175 head of horses quartered on the fair grounds, many of which will have to

MORRIS MILLER

If confidence begets confidence then the White Sox players should win a lot of games and the pennant for their leader, for Rowland has inspired faith in his proteges. When the Red Sox jumped the White Sox so effectively that they lost last place, Rowland was not disappointed.

"The loss of first place doesn't mean that we have been stopped," he said. "We have exchanged the top rung of the ladder with the Boston club several times this season and the race has more than two months to run. We expect to finish the eastern trip with a majority of games won regardless of the poor start we have made. You can depend upon it that first place will change hands at least once more this season."

About a year ago "Snowy" Baker, Australia's big noise in the boxing game, unseated a young journalist from a N. W. country paper, and gave him a start in public life at the Sydney stadium. The youth in question is Reginald G. Edwards, or "Ted," as everyone calls him. He hails from New Brighton, Pa. He was also well known in Buffalo, Rochester, Niagara Falls and Brantford, Ontario.

A few months after making a start he was placed in temporary charge of the Sydney stadium, under the personal direction of Baker, and soon proved that he could make good. Later he went to Brisbane to take charge of the stadium there. Three months ago he was transferred back to Sydney, where he is now acting in the treble capacity of advertising, publicity and local manager.

Catcher Ray Schalk held "red ink" number 2406, in the quota for his district. He is therefore caught for early examination. He is married, but can hardly claim that his wife is dependent on him.

Lee Pohl of the Indians has captured the largest pitching entry on record. He is Harry Pittinger, from the Kent (Ohio) normal school, and gave him a start in public life at the Sydney stadium. The youth in question is Reginald G. Edwards, or "Ted," as everyone calls him. He hails from New Brighton, Pa. He was also well known in Buffalo, Rochester, Niagara Falls and Brantford, Ontario.

Manager Lee Pohl, who has had great faith in the intentions of Pitcher Guy Morton, has had his eyes opened to the fact that Morton has been putting something over on him. Morton, along with Joe Boehling, has been going for breaking training rules. Thus do ball players repay good treatment.

Earl Hamilton of the Browns went through the first half of the season without winning a ball game. He pitched good ball many times but something always deprived him of victory.

CICOTTE DESERVES RANK WITH BEST OF FAMOUS HURLERS

Thirty-three years old and just beginning to have his most remarkable success as a pitcher—that's the record of Eddie Cicotte.

Credit this year with the most successful use of the "shine ball," he also is given credit for having some control over a knuckle ball and is more than the average performer with the spitter.

Cicotte, a veteran who, according to usual records, should be getting out of the way, heaved himself into the records for keeps when he hurled a no-hit, no-run game this year.

When Jack Coombs was getting his first experience as a major leaguer Cicotte had been taken on by Detroit, found wanting and sent back. He graduated from the same club that turned out Ty Cobb and he went to Detroit the same year.

Since the beginning of the 1908 season Cicotte has been twirling them over in the American league—first as a member of the Red Sox and then as a member of the White Sox.

Cicotte missed participation in the 1912 world's series by a hair, for he was transferred to the Chicago club when they were after he had been turned down and spurned by Jake Stahl as no good.

Cicotte has been going on in an even way, winning a game here and losing one there. His most successful season was while he was with Lincoln in the Western league in 1907. He won twenty-three and lost ten games.

If the White Sox finally do club their way into the American league pennant it will be largely the fault of this veteran heaver. His work is the most consistent, and the really brilliant work of all the curvers of the great baseball club.

The annual track and field meet for the children of the playgrounds of the city will be held at the fair grounds Wednesday afternoon. Everything is in readiness for the handling of an unusually large number of children. The event will be held at one o'clock, and that they will all be completed early.

The boys have been divided into three groups and the girls into two groups, using a standard dividing line. Four events will be contested in each group and as a final climax to the meet the two relays will be run between the schools. No age limit will be placed on the members of the relay teams, so that each playground will be represented by the best runners in both the boys' and girls' relay.

All records will be kept as the standard for future years. Accurate records will be secured and maintained for each division. The judges of the events will be five directors of the playgrounds.

The events to be contested are as follows:
Boys, 12 years and under class—Basketball, 10 yard dash; 20 yard relay with five men on a team.
Boys, 12 to including 15—75 yard dash; running broad jump; high jump; basketball; 100 yard dash.
Miss Amy Williams will act as judge for the boys and under class boys; Miss Bohl for the 12 to 16 year class; Miss Raymond for the older boys; Miss Julia Johnson for the under 15, and Miss Irene Williams for the older girls.

The public is invited to attend the meet to see the work of the children. All the events will be held near the grandstand at the fair grounds so that excellent seating facilities can be obtained. It is expected that the entrance total will reach two hundred.

Wednesday evening the final games of the playground indoor baseball league will be brought to a close. At the present time the Webster is in the lead, but a defeat in the last contest will make a tie. The Webster will meet the Jefferson at the Jefferson grounds. The other games between the Adams and the Washington will be played on Thursday afternoon. The game between the Jefferson and the Webster will start at six o'clock, due to the track and field meet in the afternoon. The standings of the teams are as follows:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Webster	5	0	1.000
Jefferson	4	1	.800
Washington	1	4	.200
Adams	0	5	.000

Interest in the evening league for working boys and young men is centered on the games to be played tonight, because victories on the part of the Washington and Adams nines will tie all teams for first place.

Present time the Jefferson and the Webster are in the lead with three victories and two defeats. The percentages follow:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Webster	3	2	.600
Jefferson	3	2	.600
Washington	2	3	.400
Adams	2	3	.400

MIGRATORY BIRDS NESTING NEAR HERE; GOOD FALL SHOOTING

Indication that central and southern Wisconsin sportsmen are to be favored with unusual opportunity for migratory bird shooting this fall is found in the story of an old sportsman—an observer of "signs that never fail."

The latest proof that "conditions are changing" is the finding of a nest of wild geese in the marsh near Koshkonong. It is the first time in years that such a nest has been found in this vicinity, it is said. It was considered a rare find. Wild geese never nest this far south, it is claimed.

Seventeen geese were in the nest and left undisturbed. However, instead of taking it as a rare instance, some of the older observers declare that it is another sign that seasons are lagging and that wild game is being forced to harbor further south with the late springs. For the last few years it has been noticeable, they say, that wild game is flying less far into the north and that it is flying south later in the fall. It is believed that hunting in this locality will improve with the indication that wild game is nesting further south. A general understanding is abroad that such game found nesting in this locality this season will be undisturbed, in the hope that the game will return.

AUTO LICENSE FEES SWELL ROAD FUNDS

Rock County Will Receive $17,232 Which Will Be Placed in the Repair Fund.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Madison, Wis., Aug. 7.—The counties of the state will receive $596,365.67 back for the building of good roads from the auto license fund of the state. Under the law twenty-five per cent of the amount collected, after the cost of administration is deducted, goes into the state highway fund and seventy-five per cent is returned to the counties. For the fiscal year just closed $834,142.50 was collected. The cost of administration was $38,069.07. Of the $796,073.43 remaining twenty-five per cent or $198,768.36 goes into the state highway fund and $796,073.43 is distributed among the counties.

The amount collected in auto and motor license fees from Rock county was $24,039 and the amount to be returned into the apportionment announced by Secretary of State Hull is $17,232.26.

Last year the cost of administration per license issued was 24.5 cents. For the past year the cost has been reduced to 23.09 cents. The number of all licenses issued during the past fiscal year was 169,266 as compared with 118,349 for the fiscal year previous.

In the list of new officers commissioned for the army at the reserve training camps appears the name of Nicholas E. Abbaticchio, Latrobe, Pa. The new lieutenant is a brother of Ed Abbaticchio, famous as a player in the National league many years ago.

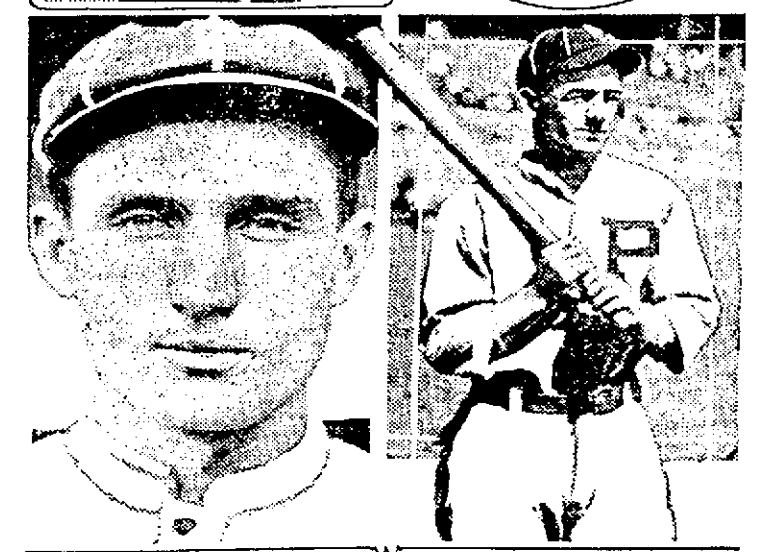

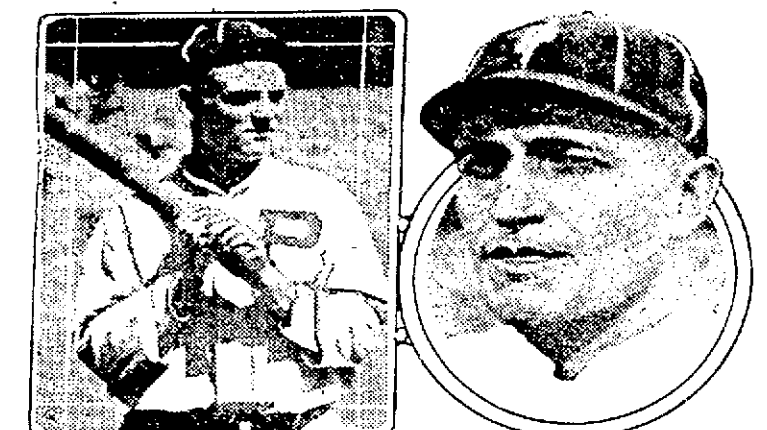

Brooklyn announces that it has secured two new pitchers. They are Harry Heitman and Norman Pitt, who have been playing with Portland in the Eastern league. Bill Dahlen picked them up as scout for Ebbets. Both are youngsters, big and strong and said to be good prospects.

HE IS GRAND OLD MAN OF GAME TODAY

Frank B. Bancroft, business manager of the Cincinnati Reds, soon to celebrate his seventy-first birthday, is the grand old man of baseball today. He has been in the playing or business end of baseball for forty years. In 1873 he managed the New Bedford, Mass., team, winning his first pennant. He managed the old Philadelphia Athletics, in the National league till 1891, when he took up the business end of the game.

INSPECTORS READY FOR COUNTY FAIRS

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Madison, Wis., Aug. 7.—The sanitary supervision of eighty Wisconsin fairs will constitute part of the task of the three state hotel and restaurant inspectors during the next two months. This work began today with the opening of county fairs at Reedsburg and Boscobel.

These activities will be directed first of all to proper garbage and sewage disposal in order to avoid the fly nuisance and transmission of disease. As great numbers of people congregate at fairs, it is important that all insanitary conditions favorable to infantile paralysis and other dangerous maladies be outlawed from the start. The rules of the state board of health governing eating places on fair grounds will be strictly enforced. Foodstuffs must be protected against flies and other insects. Dishwater, refuse and all garbage matter must be deposited in covered containers and removed frequently. Kitchen floors must be kept dry and clean. Perishable food products must be kept under refrigeration conditions. Canned goods must be removed from the containers upon being opened. Frequent changing and cleaning of dishcloths and towels are required, and glass and utensils must be thoroughly washed after every use. Dirty or cracked dishes are prohibited from further use.

No person suffering from any communicable disease may be employed in any eating establishment upon fair grounds. DEFECTIVE GERMAN AIRCRAFT WARNING FOR U. S. TO HEED

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
With the British Armies in the field, Aug. 7.—There's a lesson to the United States not to make haste too precipitately in recent air battles here. The structural defects of German aircraft have been strongly illustrated of late. They were of machines hurriedly built as a result of Germany's "speeding up" of aeroplane construction. Now that America is going to hustle up and build great fleets of such craft she will do well to note some of the results of too much speed and not enough precaution.

In one week recently seven German planes were seen literally to break up in the air, the pilots and observers being hurled to the earth below. These accidents were unmistakably the result of faulty construction. Two other Russian planes suddenly burst into flames in the view of British fighters—for no accountable reason.

Moreover, the new German planes are exceedingly vulnerable, probably due to faulty material and rush work. One British lieutenant the other day fired 40 rounds at 25 yards range—and broke the German's wings clear off. Another British fighter turned his machine gun fire at the tail of one of fifteen Prussian machines, from a distance of 60 yards. The Boche's tail slid clear off and the machine crashed to earth.

On the same day as this last incident five British flyers attacked a fleet of Abatross scouts among the clouds. The fighters got separated shortly in the foggy clouds and then it was every man for himself. One British captain, after driving off three Germans, hid in a cloud and awaited the fourth, when he saw approach. At the correct moment the Britisher dived out, cut below his enemy, and fired 55 shots. He broke the German plane completely in two.

On the following day a British fighter, battling with nine planes, broke one into several pieces with a few shots, and then saw two other of his enemies burst into flames. One of the German planes burst into flames, and another just simply collapsed after 18 rounds of fire.

On the 5th the Americans will need the best machines and their best men against the Germans. Even then it would be foolhardy to expect a walk-over.

Right now the German high command is grouping his flyers, aware of the British aerial supremacy—just as a year ago he grouped artillery into traveling "cavalries." The idea is that since the Germans are unable to maintain equality of the air everywhere along the front, they can concentrate a flying "cavalry" at some weak spot, or at some place in the line which is threatened.

DRAFT EXEMPTION.

Whether political and personal influence is going to play any important part in the draft exemption or not remains to be seen. The purpose of the selective draft was to secure for the new army a sufficient number of men to complete the various half million units planned for with no discrimination as regards wealth or position. In other words the washerwoman's son was placed on an equal plane with the son from quality hill. Skim milk aristocracy was not to be considered and the man, if physically fit, was to be drafted regardless of how much of a social or political pull his friends could exercise.

No member of any board can exempt a man for personal reasons and follow the dictations of the instructions of the federal government. In fact the general public are going to have something to say about this exemption business; perhaps not by direct influence upon the first board, but upon the second board, when the time comes. George Goldsmith is not going to be exempted for some special reason and Ole and Tom and Jack, the sons of hard-working parents, taken, unless there is some mighty good reason. One hears certain classes say: "Yes, he will be exempted." What basis they have for saying this is a mystery, and if this draft is not properly conducted the good Lord save the country when the second is called.

Thus far the selection in Rock county is progressing very evenly. It is estimated that about sixteen per cent of the first ninety-four men examined in Janesville, Monday, were exempted for some physical ailment. There were others who had temporary ailments who were exempted, but not exempted for the remainder perhaps fifty per cent, farmers, a considerable number of them, asked for exemption and their claims were filed and will be decided later. It is interesting to note at this time that No. 258, the first man drawn, an Edgerton man, was disqualified for physical disability, but that this man, Schuett, enlist name, had previously been called, in company at the draft was called, in company at this city and was rejected for the same reasons.

We are at war with a relentless foe. This draft is but the start of other drafts. We are told that the federal government plans future drafts next year with new registration to take in the younger men and exempt the older men who have passed the draft age. This means more work. Perhaps the fact that the ten million men who registered and whose names were drawn may not make this second registration necessary, but the officials at Washington are not as optimistic as individuals who think the war will end in a few months.

It is no encouragement to the average pro-German sympathizer, and their number is not counted in this country or Germany—who do not know that Germany is far from defeated yet.

Any news that leaks out through the closed channels of communication from the central powers is permitted to escape for a special reason. When we are told of peace terms, we may rest assured that every energy is being directed for a drive in some direction against some nation they expect to capture. There are still several hundred thousands of reservists at work in various ammunition plants whose places can be taken by the old men or the immature boys who are not yet able to fight, or even the women, for a nation that burns the bodies of its dead to make saltpeter, hates at nothing, who will be in line when needed.

This new army being drafted today may not be called upon to fight the war, but it is a fact that if this war continues we may expect them to be in the trenches or on the field of battle on some of the fronts before Christmas of 1918. Meanwhile our national guard regiments, now mustered into the regular service, will be across the water and doing yeoman's service long before.

WHY POLITICS?
One would think that just at this time we should not be disturbed by state politics. It is twelve months and more until the next legislature meets. The average citizen has not yet realized what changes the last legislature—so recently adjourned—has accomplished in the way of "reform" of existing laws. Objectors to the governor and his particular brand of political adherents, pointing out that he refused to sign the referendum liquor measure and talk of making that a campaign issue. Other friends of the governor state he has mixed into the Wisconsin soldier problem and that the last hundred or so commissions issued to officers have been for men of foreign birth. Upon this they lay great stress.

But why inject politics into the present complex situation is the question. Time to take the matter to the next year and not discuss wars and means at the state fair as appears to be the idea at the present time. Of course everyone admits the state fair is a fine opportunity for politicians to gather. It is an excuse for them to meet in Milwaukee, but it is safe to say that no policy ever agreed upon in Milwaukee at this period on an off year ever held water twelve months from that time.

Lots of men have been nominated for various offices during state fair week whose names were never even given serious consideration when the primary came a year later. There is no anxiety to select a new candidate for governor just now. We have a governor now who has plenty of weight and tact to sit on the lid of state affairs for the time being. Let us see what will happen before we decide to change horses while crossing a stream.

Meanwhile let the professional politicians give us a rest from politics or it will be the worse for them in the long run. We must harvest crops, recruit new armies and do lots of things before the next election, and meanwhile we must continue our support of the federal government and remember that however we differ politically from the government, politically created them, and we must stand firmly behind them until the end.

The greatest danger the United States has at present is from the foreigner domiciled in our midst. The men whose hearts are with Germany and who talk German at home and abroad and think the sun rises and sets over Berlin, and that the German emperor is really a pal of some supernatural being, are dangerous. The average citizen thinks that this unseen "pal" is really the keeper of the "infernal regions" and perhaps they are not far wrong from the actions of his disciples.

Thank fortune Rock county grain crops are well along toward harvest. The next thing is to garner in the corn crop which promises so well if we have a bit more rain. The man who has a big field of corn and failed to cultivate it because he became discouraged at its backward condition early in the season, will reap a harvest of weeds instead of the real product and look with envy on his neighbor who has a banner crop and cultivated.

Next week is the Janesville fair. With no other fair in the county this year the local organization should do well. The only trouble is that some of the stock-raisers may not enter their cattle owing to the rush season in the harvest field or for other reasons, and thus the general public will not learn what wonderful herds we have right here in our home county.

Congress still argues on minor details of the plan to conserve food supplies and finance the war, and the fact still remains that we are far behind in the general raising of funds to conduct a world war such as we have entered into. It is men like La Follette who block actual war preparation, and still we wonder at crime.

Russia is still ready to do its share as soon as it settles down to actual work. They need strong hands at the helm and perhaps they will secure them, but one hardly expects any government organized by a revolution to last even during strenuous days like this. Look how long it took France to find itself after its reign of terror?

Tobacco growers are smiling at the prices paid. However they may smile out of the other side of the mouth when the war ends and the man who was the early bird in the field secured crops for twelve or fourteen cents worth thirty at harvest time. However it is a gamble trusting to the weather at best.

Uncle Sam plans to float his next government loan through the farmers' profits on this year's crops. The land knows they will be the only ones who will have any money to spare, unless he the munitions-makers or the government contractors who have secured fat contracts.

If the spirit of some old Indian brave who wandered through this land in early days could only come back and look with surprise at the farms, the herds and the crops, he would not wonder that the "white man" wanted his hunting ground of a hundred years ago.

Tallow dips may come into use again before this war is over. We may expect to see the old gas or oil lamp on the streets. You can never tell what will happen and it is the wise household that is ready for emergencies.

Rock river apparently has lost none of its charm for the river residents who delight in its environments and wonder why more do not appreciate its beauty and value as a vacation spot.

Bring blazing beams to heat upon our brows.

Yea, though we swelter and we swear and swoon,
Come bring the Orb of Day, his blistering rays.
For we are fain to feel a summer's As highly heated as in other days.

A summer's noon, when all along the way

Or if you won't then tell us so because We'd like to know if you intend or not

Your Girl's Folks.
Sometimes when your girl's folks sit around later than they should you wish you could think of some way to get them out of the room. Many a young man makes the mistake of being too polite to the old folks and listening to their anecdotes and childhood memories. The best plan is to pay as little attention to them as possible. As a rule the old gentleman is the hardest one to squelch. When everything else fails and as a last resort you might simply say to him, in a nice way, "Wouldn't it be about time to tend to the cat?" When he has let the cat hang a "positively No admittance" sign on the outside of the door and back the piano against it.

Still, he might snap at you and bite.
Most likely not—and yet, he might!

JOHN AND JAMES.

(This week's mystery.)
John Brown suddenly discovered that he could not sleep properly. He would wake up with a start and then drop off again and wake up once more with a start, and so on until daybreak, always awaking with a different start.
Beads of perspiration would hold mass meetings on his brow. His limbs trembled so that, when he stood still, strangers thought he was practicing jig steps, and, when he ate, peas flew regardless.
His hair began to turn gray and fall out with dull, sickening thuds.

James Smith came to the conclusion, all at once, that he had never felt better in his life. He would sleep as soundly as a top and wake up as sprightly as a hoop. His pulse skipped gaily in his veins and his chest expansion, of its own volition, increased four inches. His hair, which had been threatening to turn gray in spots, again took on its pristine blackness, and the rich blood of perfect well being showed in his cheeks.
Now which of these men, John Brown or James Smith, neglected to subscribe to the Liberty Loan?

STATE FARMERS WANT PEDIGREED GRAINS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 7.—Wisconsin farmers are battling for the privilege of growing the new pure bred Wisconsin winter wheat. More than 100 banks in scattered sections of the state have filed application for a consignment of the pedigree grain and today, George Bankett, secretary of the Wisconsin Bankers' association, announced it may be necessary to cut down amounts requested by many banks. It is probable that more than 1,000 farmers will be growing the new grain.

"We will have more than 40,000 bushels for seeding when the crop from this year's quota is threshed," said Mr. Bankett today. "Farmers in every part of the state are anxious to try the grain which under a four year test averaged 38.5 bushels to the acre. Other winter wheats doing well, average only about 20 bushels to the acre. The new wheat is especially adapted to Wisconsin growing conditions and with a favorable season should make a remarkable showing."

Prof. R. A. Moore of the University of Wisconsin is responsible for the remarkable grain. The 4,000 bushels available for seeding at this time are the product of a single seed selected in him ten years ago. After battling against all odds, Prof. Moore this year offered the 4,000 bushels for distribution by the Wisconsin Bankers' association.

Paid to his present successful attempt he conducted a test of four years which was frustrated when floods wiped out his stock of select grain. At the same time he started the present grain he began breeding a select barley grain which is now world famous. It is known as Wisconsin barley even abroad and has been grown by test a greater bearing barley than any other barley available.

The wheat Prof. Moore now offers to the country is known as No. 2 pedigree. Most winter wheats are soft and the advent of a hard winter wheat is hailed with great enthusiasm by agriculturists throughout the country. Farmers who are privileged to grow the new wheat this year must sign an application which binds them to keep the seed separate from all other grains on the farms. They must keep the product for seeding again next year, and if redistributed to other farmers, they in turn must agree to retain the grain for future seeding until the state. Then the grain will be offered to the entire country for seeding, as it is declared the wheat will increase production in other wheat districts as well as in Wisconsin.

The price for the original quota of seed will be $1 per bushel above the Milwaukee market price No. 1 wheat on Aug. 15. Banks are to remit to the distributing agency upon receipt of their allotment and in turn they will be reimbursed by the 10,000 or more "official growers." Each farmer growing the wheat under agreement being designated an "official grower."

Elephant Labyrinth.

Near Ayuthia, formerly the capital of Siam, is a curious labyrinth in which elephants are captured alive. The labyrinth is formed by a double row of immense tree trunks set firmly in the ground, the space between them gradually narrowing. Where it begins at the edge of the forest the opening of the labyrinth is more than a mile broad, but as it approaches Ayuthia it becomes so narrow that the elephants cannot turn around. Tame elephants are employed to lure wild ones into the trap. Having reached the inner end of the labyrinth, the tame elephants are allowed to pass through a gate, while men lying in wait slip shackles over the feet of the captives.

Magnitude of Russia.
At present the Russian empire encompasses 42 degrees of latitude and no less than 173 degrees of longitude—that is to say, it doubles the extent of the United States in length and nearly triples it in breadth. The Empire State of New York could be easily set down in the 5,647,657 square miles of the Russian empire's area 165 times, while Russia, west of the Urals alone, is ten times the size of France and thirty-three times the size of England and Wales. European Russia takes up over one-half of Europe and Asiatic Russia over one-third of all Asia. So we find Russia occupying more than one-seventh of the total land surface of the globe.—Geographical Review.

SECOND DRAFT GROUP IS EXAMINED TODAY

EXAMINATIONS TO SECURE JANESVILLE DISTRICT QUOTA CONTINUE AT COURT HOUSE.

31 ACCEPTED MONDAY

Indications Are That Several Hundred Additional Registered Men Will Be Required to Secure 152.

MONDAY'S DRAFT RECORD.

Total number examined.....94

Discharged as physically unfit.....14

Conditionally discharged.....21

Passed physical tests.....59

Exemption claims filed.....18

Accepted for service.....31

The second group of registered men called up for examination to secure the first Rock county district's quota for the national army, was examined today by the examining physicians of the registration and exemption board, at the court house. The board, composed of one man from each of the five wards, and one man from each of the five townships, met at 10 o'clock this morning and the remainder of the afternoon. The board is now waiting for the results of the examination of the first group, which will appear before the board on Wednesday. A few days, or perhaps a week, will elapse while the board receives and passes upon exemption claims. It is possible to tell definitely whether the quota of 152 assigned to the northern half of the county has been secured from the first 304 men called up for examination.

Extra Call Probable.

If the quota has not been filled, the board will then summon additional registered men in the order of their ability to service as determined by the drawing, and will fix a date for them to appear before the board and be examined by physicians. Notices will be mailed out to the additional men summoned, in the same manner as were sent to the members of the three groups of the present quota.

The records of yesterday's examination is illuminating. It shows the probability for an additional call. Of 94 men examined, 59, or less than two-thirds, passed the physical examination. Of the numbers who passed, 18 have already filed exemption claims and others may file claims later, as the time for filing had not expired until today, the seventh day after the notice was sent out. This leaves 31 men actually accepted for service, approximately one-fifth of the quota. In addition to the quota, the provost marshal general's ruling accepted 14 men, but an additional ten per cent of the quota shall be secured in order to allow for possible losses as a result of dismissals on exemption claims by the district board.

At yesterday's rate of acceptance, less than 100 men will be secured from the first 304 summoned to report, making probable the call of an additional 50 men.

Of the seven men who failed to appear yesterday, none are suspected of seeking to evade the draft. Several have obtained transfers to other boards and a few are out of the city and unable to report. Their cases are being held open to allow them to report at a later date while the board is in second district results.

In the second district the net result of the first day's examinations was between 40 and 50 men finally accepted. This indicates that the Beloit district will also find it necessary to call up several hundred extra to secure the quota of 220 for the district. Of 152 men examined only 25 were rejected as physically disqualified. Eighty, however, filed exemption claims, although it is not probable that these will be allowed in all cases.

OBITUARY.

Bridget Fitzpatrick.

Word has been received by Mrs. Charles Viney of 447 North Washington street, of the death of her cousin, Miss Bridget Fitzpatrick, which occurred at her home in Chicago on Sunday. Miss Fitzpatrick was 75 years of age. She was a resident of the city. Her many friends learn of her death with deep regret, as she was a woman of unusual personality and character. The death will be brought to Janesville Wednesday morning at eleven-fifteen on the Northwestern road, and will be taken immediately to Mount Olivet cemetery for interment.

CITY IN BLANK DARKNESS WHEN ACCIDENT OCCURS

A belt on a small but very important machine at the Fourth avenue plant of the Janesville Electric company broke last night and for three quarters of an hour the entire city was precipitated into darkness. Incidentally, Janesville residents, although thousands of miles away from the range of the Kaiser's Zeppelins, got some idea of precautions taken in Paris and London with the first warning that the enemy's aerial forces are coming for an attack. Many humorous incidents occurred down town, the only light being that from motoring headlights. Crowds poured from theatres and stores and bumped into other crowds on the sidewalk. There was no moon, which made moving about even more dangerous.

No Killing Your Engine in the Coming Automobile

Thousands of accidents and hundreds of deaths occur every year by the stalling of gasoline driven automobiles. Every automobile driver finds himself or herself caught in a tight place at times when driving a car, where if all the power in the machine could be utilized the instant the throttle was opened, the accident would be averted. We all know that when the throttle on a gasoline machine is opened suddenly, the motor has less power, if not no power at all. This is because many accidents occur on our railroad crossings and other dangerous points. A condition of this kind can not happen with the Doble Detroit Steam Car. The instant you open your throttle on this car you have seventy horse power, and you simply leap out of dangers way.

TAKE AUTO THIEVES; MAY UNEARTH GANG

Chief of Police Fred Gillman of Evansville Brings Two Into Municipal Court Here Today.

What perhaps may be the unearthing of a gang of automobile thieves in Iowa, is found in a case brought into Janesville municipal court by Chief of Police Fred Gillman of Evansville today. Gillman swore to a complaint and warrant charging C. E. Hault, 19, and F. A. Pittman, 18, with grand larceny in the sum of $300, a Ford automobile being the principal, and in addition swore the boys violated the Wisconsin automobile laws by running the machine without proper state tags.

Both demanded examinations when arraigned and they were set for a week from today. According to Gillman, after he questioned the boys in Evansville, when they attempted to sell the machine, they advised him to verify their ownership by calling over the long distance telephone a man at Waterloo, Iowa, and when Gillman went to the telephone they dashed to the depot and sent the following message to the man:

Steve: O. K. Ford car belongs to G. W. Blaul and F. A. Summers. The message was signed, "Friend Lick."

Gillman learned of the message and from its nature deduced it either one in code or else a telegram used on such occasions. The man Pittman and Hault advised the chief to call is a street car motorman, it was learned.

It was also learned that Hault is a bad actor, according to a telegram from the chief of police of Waterloo. Pittman, it is believed, is a victim of circumstances, and found himself an unwilling accomplice of Hault.

They were traveling under the name of Blaul and Summers, but when quizzed, gave their correct names. Although they claim their ages as 18 and 19, they appear to be at least 20 or 21 years of age.

They are each held under $200 bail.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Leonard, their baby son Raphael and their daughter, Miss Margaret, of Maringo, Ill., arrived last evening for a visit with friends.

Champion Shot Here: J. R. Graham, champion trap shot of the world, was a visitor in Janesville today en route to a registered tournament to be held the end of the week at Shullsburg. Mr. Graham is a resident of Long Lake, Ill., and as the winner of the shotgun event at the 1912 Olympic games, stands out pre-eminently among the clay bird fans.

While in Janesville he called on many of the local shooting enthusiasts.

A Bit Thicker.

Parisians drink scarcely any water other than mineral water. The Seine water has a shocking reputation.

John Raphael, Paris correspondent for several London papers, said some years ago that one afternoon a pretty actress met her doctor at a dress rehearsal in a boulevard theater.

"Look here," she said; "I am quite sure that all this mineral water I drink, since you have forbidden wine, is dreadfully bad for me. I want your permission to drink filtered Seine water now."

"Very well," replied the doctor, "if you insist. But, mind, you must chew it well."

$13,000 WILL BE AWARDED AT THE JANESVILLE FAIR

Huge Sum to Be Donated in Purse
For Speed Events and As Premiums in The Exhibits

Some idea of the magnitude of the Janesville Fair, which will run from Tuesday until Friday of next week, may be gained from the fact that $13,000 will be given away in prizes and premiums in the various races and exhibits which go to make this year's fair the greatest in the history of the local fair association, and probably the biggest county fair in the United States.

Besides this huge sum, there will be a large amount of money expended on the free attractions, which go to make up a part of each day's program. Hundreds of dollars will be devoted to insuring the comfort and convenience of the fair guests, toward providing special features of interest to particular groups, toward special features of interest to particular groups. Hundreds more will be virtually given away by merchants and manufacturers in installing costly exhibits. One concern, the Kee and Chapple Milk company will give away ten thousand glasses of the finest Rock County milk, on Thursday, Milk Product Day, when farmers from every section of the county are expected.

Today's rain was welcomed by the scores of horsemen who are already assembled on the grounds; the track has been getting too dry and dusty for fast work, so the rejoicing over the heavy watering was great. By the way, it is a fact that the grounds will be a lot drier in every sense of the word. Already there are many horsemen, and cattle men on the grounds, and each day finds new arrivals. With the fair, a few days off the special concession people are beginning to come in, as well as those who will take part in the free attractions. A young army of carpenters, painters and laborers is at work on the grounds, cleaning up, making repairs, painting buildings, setting up stages, and bleachers, and doing the thousand and one things necessary to prepare for what is expected to be the greatest fair of all time.

On Saturday the tent men arrive with their outfits. More than thirty tents of every size and shape will be erected to care for exhibits and animals. Besides these there will be all the tents put up by the show people. Two great horse tents, 100 by 50 feet will be provided for the race horses, of which there will be more than two hundred.

Horse lovers will be glad to learn that the fastest racing horse in the world will be on exhibition at the fair, and may possibly do it with work on the track. "William," as the champion is known, has stepped a mile in 1:58 1/2, and is so fast that he is barred from most of the free-trail events throughout the country. "William" is already on the grounds and will be here throughout the fair.

Beginning with Saturday special police will be put at the gates to the grounds and no one will be permitted on the grounds unless on special business, until the fair opens Tuesday morning.

On Wednesday day, all the merchants have agreed to close their shops in the afternoon, and an effort is now being made to have all the city's factories closed at that time so that everyone may turn out for the big program which has been planned for that day. It will be the big day of the biggest, cleanest county fair in Wisconsin.

News Notes from Movieland

BY DAISY DEAN

The life story of Julia Swayne Gordon (villainess of darkest dye in the movies) will have to go unrolled, at least so far as this column is concerned. As a general rule managers of film stars are always more than eager to reveal everything there is to know concerning their proteges. Not so the managers of Miss Gordon. A letter written to them two weeks ago, wanting to know where she was born, and when, and so on, has not been answered. Maybe the fair Julia doesn't care to have her exact age revealed. Anyway, her latest picture is presented herewith. Miss Gordon has been in the movies ever since they were popular, and invariably plays the part of a villainess. She plays it exceedingly well and has gained thousands of admirers in all parts of the world.

DOUG IS A HERO

Comes the following from the flowing pen of an aspiring P. A.:

Discovered somewhere in the Mojave desert, suffering from an attack of a moustached rattlesnake, James Ryan, well known animal trainer, attributes his chances for recovery to Douglas Fairbanks, who, who stumbled over his almost unconscious body while on a recent hunting expedition.

The screen actor lifted Ryan up into the saddle, and they rode for eight hours before reaching the next town. Restatives were then applied, and Fairbanks charter an automobile to bring the injured person to Los Angeles.

According to Ryan, he lost his way the previous evening while walking across the desert, and decided to camp on the lost trail until sunrise. An hour after spreading his blankets and turning over for the night he was awakened by the crackling sound of a rattlesnake. He was too late with his gun, for a rattler had already fastened itself on his leg. All night he lay there helpless, until Douglas Fairbanks happened along and saved the day.

Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I am a man who has met different men and women in my time, but I never cared for them as companions, I laughed to myself over such a silly thing as love. But now I have met the woman I ever will love.

This woman is married and has a mother, but she is satisfied. She loves me too, but she is a lady and feels that in time she will be free to choose for herself.

Should I ask this woman for her love, as I know she was married to please another party? She is discouraged with life, because of this man.

(2) Do you think that when love grows with time that the parties can ever be happy away from each other? I say I cannot stay away from her. I do not like to meet her in secret as that will start gossiping and I love her too much for that.

(3) Since the woman is a mother, she is not free to follow her own inclinations. Help her to do the brave, good thing. She should remain with her husband and child. It will be best for you to go away, because it will be easier for both of you in the end. Keep each other informed as to addresses so that if the time comes that she is free to marry again, you can go to her.

(2) Tell her why you are going away, but do not ask her for her love. She is not free to give it.

(3) People who love, but cannot be together, can be contented and even happy. There are times of loneliness and suffering, but as a whole life is endurable and worth living.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am sixteen years of age and am deeply in love with a young man two years older than myself. One of my girl friends is trying to win his love. How can I keep her from it?

WORRIED.

Let the other girl try to get the boy if she wants to; her efforts will be of no avail unless there is something about her that attracts him more than you do. Don't help the girl's conquest by criticizing her to the boy. If you say anything about her to him, say something complimentary.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I know a girl who is going with a friend who is twelve inches taller than she, but he loves her and she loves him, only when they walk along the street she looks at him and says, "Do you think she should stop going with him because he is too tall for her?"

She should not stop going with him because that is much difference in many couples.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: What do you think of a boy who will take a girl out riding, and then tell a second girl he took the first because she wanted to go, and not because he wanted her company. SHORTLY.

From what you say I should imagine that the boy is very young and has a poor idea of the requirements for a gentleman.

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

(Miss Hoyt will answer in this paper all questions on matters of etiquette addressed to her in care of the Gazette. If a personal answer is desired enclose a two-cent stamp.)

If a lady accepts any civility from a gentleman at the same table, such as placing butter, sugar or water nearer to her plate, she must thank him but by no means start a conversation with him.

Always a nice way for you to entertain your friend's house party would be to ask them over for a Sunday evening buffet supper. There would be only ten or twelve of you. Have the chairs in the dining room arranged against the wall, and decorate the table with flowers and candles. Plates, glasses, napkins and silver should be laid conveniently on the sideboard. All the food may be cold and it should be on the table. There might be baskets of sandwiches and cakes; dishes of meat jellies or cold meats; salads, fruit and hot honey. Loaves may be served from the kitchen if you want them. Let the guests help themselves, and make the affair as jolly and informal as possible.

R. T.: A gentleman wears mourning for a sister for six months to a year. It should take the form of a narrow hat band of crape.

Household Hints

MENU HINT.

Breakfast. Apples. Rolled Oats. Coffee. Buttered Toast.

Lunch. Hot Potato Salad. Tea. Gingerbread. Dinner. Meat Cakes. String Beans. Bread. Sliced Bananas.

SOME TIPS FOR YOU TO MAKE WORK EASIER.

Wash your face every time you take them off and they will wear longer.

Just after removing the washing from the line, turn the fine spray of the garden hose on them, and let them dry out and put them in the basket. This saves the second handling to sprinkle the clothes.

After being worn for some time the feet of white stockings are apt to become discolored or discolored ordinary washing fails to whiten them. Leaving them hanging out in the rain over night will often entirely remove the stain.

THE TABLE.

Three-In-One Meatless Dish. Three raw potatoes cut into cubes, three raw carrots cut into cubes, one pound of peas.

Place all in one quart boiling salt water; let boil twenty or thirty minutes until tender and about three-fourths cup of water remains; then add one tablespoon butter or nut butter and serve hot. Will serve three people.

If meat is desired, get a neck or shoulder of lamb (one pound), cook until tender, then place the raw vegetables in, add an onion, if desired, and boil as above. Not the saving of dishes to be washed.

Ham and Noodles. Cook noodles until soft and drain and season to taste with salt, pepper and butter. Put butter in casserole, then layer of noodles, then layer of chopped ham until casserole is filled; then add two well-beaten eggs with milk enough to cover noodles (let last layer be noodles). Bake twenty minutes with cover, then take off cover and brown top minutes.

Substitute for Whipped Cream. Take two bananas and two whites of eggs for six persons. Add whites of eggs to bananas (cut small) and beat all stiff. The bananas are cut directly dissolve and a delicious substitute for whipped cream will result.

Cream Pie. One quart cream and milk, one-half cup sugar, one-half cup flour, two eggs, a little butter, vanilla to taste. This makes three pies.

Economy Wedding Cake. Two eggs, two cups sugar, one and one-half cups milk, two teaspoons baking powder, three cups flour. This makes a good but inexpensive cake.

Pot Pie. Take sausage meat (as much as desired) and put in a pot. Add about one-fourth pint water. When sausage begins to cook put in dumplings and cook until done. Cook just as any other pot pie.

Baked Onions. Onions are delicate and delicious thus: Cover six large onions with boiling water, boil ten minutes, drain and cover again with boiling water. Add onion tender but firm. Drain put in baking dish, sprinkle with salt, put a lump of butter on each and cover with rich milk; give a heavy sprinkling with brown sugar and bake until light brown. The milk can be heated before put in the oven, requiring less heat in the oven than if put in cold.

Peach Nest—Sift in mixing bowl two cups flour with two teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon of salt; cut into this half cup shortening (butter or lard). Add slowly to this half cup water. Mix and roll out about as thick as pie crust and cut into deep dish. Sprinkle in bottom with half cup of flour and sugar mixed. Now peel about eight good-sized peaches (do not remove stones), mix dish with peaches, sprinkle over them half cup sugar, put on top crust and bake until a delicate brown. Serve warm or cold with cream.

FOUR FOOD. Mrs. Deane—Do you find it more economical to do your own cooking? Mrs. Sweete—Oh, yes; my husband doesn't eat half as much as he did.

Agnes—The men are all alike. Edith—Oh, no; some have a lot more money than others.—Exchange.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D. LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO DR. BRADY, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

HIVES

Urticaria, nettle-rash and hives are different names for acute or chronic wheals on the skin, resembling mosquito bites, and itching, tingling or smarting more or less.

With acute attacks more or less constitutional disturbance occurs, indicating a constitutional cause. The wheals or welts appear and disappear irregularly and rapidly, leaving no trace of their existence excepting perhaps a slight redness for some time. Children and adults are equally susceptible to hives.

The causes of hives are exceedingly protean. In a general way, protein sensitization seems to be the basis of the trouble and that means that the patient is poisoned by some nitrogenous compound which gains entrance to the blood through some portal other than normal digestion. The exciting substance may be an article of food, such as eggs, cheese, pork, sausage, coffee, tea, cocoa, lobster, clams, caviar, roe, nuts, dates, strawberries, oatmeal, mushrooms, honey, spinach. These and many other food articles which contain some nitrogenous principle, are capable of producing hives in a sensitized individual. The cause may be a drug, similarly caused, and sometimes occurs instead of hives in a sensitized person.

Speaking so glibly of "sensitized persons," what do we mean? Well, suppose one happens to have a chronic gastric or intestinal ulcer; it is quite conceivable that the unchanged or undigested protein or nitrogenous substances which enter the circulation directly through the ulcer, just as if it were injected into the arm with a hypodermic needle. Such an individual would then be "sensitized" to these proteins, and the next time he happens to eat it hives (or asthma) follows.

Sensitization may occur in various other ways. An individual may become sensitized to protein material in a concealed root abscess about the teeth or a chronic pus focus in a nasal sinus, and thus experience asthmatic attacks or hives. The source of the poisoning is removed.

Worms—grandma, don't miss this!—worms in children are sometimes a cause of repeated attacks of hives, and the elimination of the worms stops the hives.

Certain drugs produce hives in persons with an "idiosyncrasy." Thus, a single grain of quinine may precipitate an attack just as the smallest amount of egg white does in a child sensitized to egg albumen.

In the relief of an attack of hives, as a rule a cathartic should be given, preferably a bottle of solution of magnesium citrate. Then a brief fast or the simplest possible diet for a day or two. Milk or crackers and milk, or bread and butter and rice and milk.

For the itching, frequent patting (not rubbing) over the skin with calamine lotion is grateful—half ounce of each of calamine and zinc oxide powder, two drams each of glycerin and borax, an ounce of rose water if desired to scent, from ten to twenty drops of phenol (carbolic acid) and enough lime water to fill an eight-ounce bottle. This should be shaken before applying, and allowed to dry on. Saleratus water baths are good, followed by free powdering of skin with cornstarch powder.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Q. What That Blows No Good.

A. Our temporary residence is near a greenhouse, where some sort of fertilizer is freely used. When the wind blows our way the odor is mighty and we are anxious to know whether this odor will injure health? (O. T. E.)

Answer—No, that odor may be ever so strong yet not strong enough to harm the health.

Q. Irish Potatoes? Consult the Financial Editor.

A. Irish potatoes—any good food for children four and six years of age. I say my own frank, unbiased opinion. (L. W. C.)

Q. Answer—How can you expect a man to be calm and collected on such a subject? Better food for children never grew.

Lime Water and Gas Eructations. What effect does strong lime water have upon the health? What is good for one who belches gas off the stomach all the time? (J. L. B.)

Answer—1. No effect, unless it is strong enough to cause stomach irritation. 2. A thorough examination by his doctor to find out what is wrong.

Blessed Be Budgets. And then your Bag Looks Shabby. And then when you have strained a point and bought an extra expensive new hat instead of making your last year's one do (as you promised yourself that it would be all right to buy that expensive suit) your bag looks shabby. And of course you spoil the whole effect if you didn't have a new hat.

It's a good argument, a perfectly good argument. But there's one funny thing about it. And that is that people seldom if ever buy a new hat when they are buying the first expensive thing.

Why Don't They Sometimes Have Forethought? Sometimes say, "I had better not buy too expensive a suit. It won't go with the rest of my clothes." Why indeed? Because we are all weak human beings with passions, foolish, irascible, craving for more and costlier possessions than our neighbors.

There's just one way I know to bring oneself into line. And that is to have a budget and stick to it. To have a certain amount for each department and to know that if you get a too expensive suit you can't get either thing to match.

Blessed be budgets, I say. They are the best financial sheet anchor I know of. Only, of course you've got to have for a cable the strength of mind to stick to them.

New Law As An Aid For Deformed Babies

That those poor, unfortunate babies who are brought into the world by a crippled limb, a crooked back, a left slant, or a right slant, may be given a chance and that the latest development of modern medical science may be brought to bear on all of these little children, rich and poor alike, the state legislature has recently enacted one of the most progressive laws of its history.

Briefly stated, the new laws are as follows: By chapter 98 and 101 of the laws of 1917, attending physician shall, within twenty-four hours after the birth (sometimes special treatment should begin as early as that) of any child with deformity, notify the board of health of such deformity or defect, and the secretary of said board shall in turn make a report thereof to the board of council, which is instructed to place such child in such appropriate hospital as the board may determine for surgical or other treatment and cure, and when the child would be benefited thereby, such treatment has not been or is not likely to be otherwise provided.

One of the laws also states that these reports shall be treated as confidential, so that the name or address of the deformed or defective child shall not be divulged in any newspaper, magazine or other publication, and that all mothers who cooperate with the doctors and the state in bringing all such children, under fourteen years of age, to the place where they can get necessary care and surgical treatment.

HOW TO PROTECT DANGER TO AVOID IN DOING UP FRUIT

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, Aug. 7.—In this article Uncle Sam goes into detail on ways you can protect your fruit and vegetables and tells you what dangers to look out for.

There are two kinds of moths that will attack them. They are more likely to get into the fruit while they are drying than after they are packed away. This is particularly true of drying in the sun.

One is the Indian meal moth. It is the most destructive of the two. It is about three-eighths of an inch long and has a cloaked appearance, one-third gray and the rest copper brown. The fig moth is about the same size but all dark, nearly black.

Along with these usually comes a minute, flattened chocolate beetle. It does considerable damage.

Their eggs hatch on the fruit in the form of white or pinkish grublike caterpillars. If these are stored away with the fruit they will propagate and produce thousands of their kind in the storage place.

Hence, pack your stuff in small boxes to prevent the moths spreading if there are any in any particular part of the product. Store in a cool, dry place.

In sun drying, if the drying racks are screened early in the evening and at night, the cheesecloth or fly screen buttoned down and the dried fruits and vegetables stored in tight paper sacks in a cool place, no danger need ordinarily be feared from these pests.

As an added precaution, the dried product may be heated, before being packed to 140 F. long enough to allow the heat to penetrate throughout it. This will kill the eggs of the insects. If you do this, store it promptly, to prevent infestation.

BEAUTIFYING THE FLAG. To us the flag has little meant, Each glorious stripe of red Was woven from the remnant

"The blood of heroes dead. On some dim, distant battle line By other men were gained The glories that have made it fine

But now the flag shall finer grow And ages yet to be Shall find the courage that we show Today for liberty.

Of other men the flag has told, It files for others' deeds: Its ride is born of heroes bold Who shed its bygone blood. But now our blood shall mingle there

With blood of patriots dead, And through the years each stripe Shall wear

A deeper, truer red. The splendor of the flag shall gleam In every radiant star, And finer shall the banner seem Because of what we are.

Today new glory for the flag We give our best to build; Of us shall future ages brag, By us their blood be shed. And as to us the flag has meant

The greatness of the past, The Stars and Stripes shall represent Our courage to the last. The children in the years to be Our trials shall discuss, And cheer the emblem of the free, In part, because of us.

LAWRENCE OPENS LATE TO PERMIT ALL STUDENTS TO ENGAGE IN WAR LABORS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Appleton, Wis., Aug. 7.—Lawrence college will not open until Oct. 3 this year. In former years it has been customary to reopen after the summer vacation Sept. 12.

In order that the students who are engaged in war work may "do a greater bit" the longer vacation season was determined upon. All vacations, with the exception of a week at Christmas, will be abolished and the examination period will be cut from six to three days in order that the usual number of recitation days may be possible.

The Business of Living

Eleanor Hears the First Note of Discouragement From Douglas Since His Return From the Sanitarium.

"My! This is what I call luck," Jack's face glowed with pleasure as he stood by his father's chair. "Mr. Barney is certainly fine to give me a vacation when I have worked for him so short a time. He is a good sort all around."

"It is a fine thing to be able to work for such a man. I hope you can keep that position for you will have a chance to climb and that I believe is what the Douglas family wanted."

He had long since ceased to hope that he could climb to a place with an outlook for the future. His life in the business world had ended in a blind alley.

There seemed a prospect of advancement, and long ago he had become hopelessly resigned to the fate of earning an insufficient income and having his family adjust itself to it by rigid economy.

"I wish you could work for that man," continued Jack. "The man who does the kind of work you are doing gets ever so much more than you were paid by your firm."

"How do you know that?" asked the father after a silence.

"It happened to be in the office when this man, he is a young fellow came in to ask for a raise in wages. He said he was married now and could not live on two thousand dollars. I thought this wife was not like my mother. We have lived on fifteen hundred dollars, the five of us, and have bought a home in the bargain."

"There are very few managers like my mother," Douglas said. "My face lit up, as it always did when he spoke of his wife, but the light died out again as he thought: 'Here is a young man earning two thousand dollars for the same kind of work that I am doing. What is the matter with me that I have never risen above the fifteen hundred mark?'

"Mr. Barney said the young man that he would pay him more as soon as he earned it; that he had not shown interest enough in the business to warrant giving him a raise."

"It might be the best thing that could happen. There are many openings in the business world now and I am sure you could get a better position. Any way, we will not cross any bridges before we get to them. You are not strong enough to go to work yet, and who knows what may happen before that happy time?"

Mr. Douglas's cheerful outlook was contagious and the three sat in the summer duck looking at the fireflies twinkling in the mellow gloom. (To be continued.)

SPECIAL TO THE EDITOR.
Madison, Wis., Aug. 7.—It will take over a month to dispose of all the claims that are made for exemption. This takes into consideration the different points in the filing claims and the exemptions, supporting affidavits and the allowance given the local and appeal boards to dispose of these matters. The making of these affidavits in the numerous decisions in the nation is prescribed in the draft rules.

The notice of the call was sent out to 200 per cent of the population and to 200 per cent of the business must report without fail, and seven days to be examined. For other than industrial or agricultural reasons the claim for local exemption must be made in the first seven days.

board will soon be favorably passed by the local board, but he claims exemption on the ground that he has no dependents, or he is not so treated with the physical examination, within ten days after the time of filing his claim he must file supporting affidavits. This would make it seventeen days after the time of notification of his status or physical examination. The local board must make a decision within five days after the expiration of the time allowances together, more than thirty days are consumed.

The procedure where a man claims exemption because of agricultural occupation is somewhat different and a shorter time is required. Within five days after the time that this man receives notice that he is not favorably passed by the local board, he must file his claim for exemption. An additional five days' time is allowed for the submission of supporting affidavits. This does not apply to men in the military service in this matter and also on the matter within five days. Thus within fifteen days after a man has been favorably passed by the local board, he will be discharged. If his appeal board is disposition is status on the ground of industrial or agricultural reasons.

"Only the district board can give claims for discharge on the ground of being engaged in industry, including agriculture, found to be necessary to the maintenance of the military establishment, the emergency or the production of the national interest during the emergency," says the official information sent out here to appeal boards. "Such claim must be heard by the district board on or before the date after the mailing of the notice of notice that you have been certified by the local board as one who has been called for discharge, and not exempted from the closing of the board's business for the closing of the board's business in any individual claim the district board must decide the claim."

As soon as the entire list of appeals and all claims that are certified by the appeal board are sent to the general of the state.

As soon as your case is finally passed on by the general, you are placed on the list of men who are your state will notify you by mail that you have been discharged. "Notice that you have been discharged for military service will not be received until it is reported into the service file with the report of the military board with you when the government is ready to receive you."

The headquarters of the appeal boards are at Madison, Milwaukee, and Chicago, and Earl Claire,

Evidence of I. W. W. depredations in the far northwest came to Janceville on the railroad Monday, and while the train and railway men were discussing the incident another group was gathered to see whether or not a formal investigation was the proper procedure. The men were the drivers of the passenger trains on the barren track, and they were in a rage in Oklahoma.

News dispatches carried the name of Nat. Harris as among the participants in the riot. However, the Janceville crowd said, the Harris was one of the looters and that with his being taken, with two others, the ring-leaders of the trouble are in the toils and that uprising had received its death blow.

When interviewed the local men were of the fact that some time ago a man by the name of Nat. Harris had an office in one of the cow towns, being a big black and from there distributed "red flag" literature and discussed labor problems, the latter solely from the stand taken by I. W. W. agitators. Since he had been taken, he had been no longer heard of.

Regarding the other incident: Adkins, Washington and Northern railway box-car came into Janceville Monday morning, loaded with I. W. W. men, and the march for a local furniture company. The road's insignia is a black diamond, long way horizontal, and on its face the white letters, "I. W. W." The men had been in the crowd and in its place they, while pale, and men printed a glaring white "W" on the end and making it "W. W." and the "I. W. W." faction marker, no doubt to the utter chagrin and boiling blood of the crowd. The train was en route to Janceville, to the west en-

The Real Thing.
 "Your letters seem fervent enough, but can I trust their apparent fervor?"
 "You can. They have been tested in court. I got 'em out of a breach of promise suit, and the plaintiff got damages too."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Amber, of which the Hebrew word is "chashumal," occurs in the Bible only in Ezekiel 1, 4:27, and viii, 2. It is supposed that this Hebrew word denotes a mineral and not the fossil resin called "amber."

The Cooling of the Worlds.

All bodies in space are gradually approaching frigidity. When a red-hot cannon ball is taken out of a furnace and suspended in the air it parts with its heat and keeps on parting with it until it finally reaches the temperature surrounding it. And what happens to the sun? The sun is steadily losing its heat and contracting, and the same is true of the planets and of every other body in space. Just as the arctic circle is ever encroaching upon the temperate and equatorial regions, so the final still is steadily advancing upon the warmth everywhere.—New York Amer.
